YMCA and AdaptABLE Foundation Hosting Inclusive Easter Egg Hunt

Free and open to the public, March 28, 2026, 10 a.m.-1 p.m. at the Tomlinson South Meridian YMCA

Meridian, Idaho – Families and children of all abilities are invited to join the AdaptABLE Foundation and the YMCA for 4th annual Inclusive Easter Egg Hunt, a free community event to ensure that everyone can experience the joy of an Easter tradition in a welcoming, accessible environment.

“At the YMCA, we believe everyone deserves the chance to experience the joy, fun, and connection that come with community traditions like an Easter Egg Hunt,” said YMCA THRIVE Director, Andrea Parker. “Partnering with the AdaptABLE Foundation allows us to create an event where all families feel welcome, supported, and celebrated. This is what belonging looks like, and we are honored to help make it possible.”

This special event features accommodations and adapted egg-hunting areas for children with mobility challenges, sensory sensitivities, and other special needs. “The AdaptABLE Foundation’s Inclusive Easter Egg Hunt is about making sure every child and every family feels like they belong,” said Travis Ricks, Board President of the AdaptABLE Foundation.

WHAT: Inclusive Easter Egg Hunt

WHEN: Saturday, March 28, 2026

“Seeing this event grow over the years has brought so much joy to our community. We helped start the Adaptive Easter Egg Hunt because we have a daughter with adaptive needs, and we wanted her and all her friends to have a place where they could simply have fun together, no matter the obstacles they face,” said Briana Elison, AdaptABLE Board Treasurer.
